Service Description

Thorne Harbour Health (formally Victorian AIDS Council) provides a range of services which include prevention education, treatment and care of PLHIV and counselling services. Thorne Harbour aims to improve health outcomes for the entire LGBTI community by providing health promotion, support, and services. The Centre Clinic is a safe, friendly LGBTI General Practice providing general health care for gay men, lesbians and trans people, as well as specialist medical care for people living with HIV and expert sexual health screening and treatment. The Clinic has an informal, friendly and relaxed atmosphere. The doctors who work here are all Registered General Practitioners – this means they are able to provide healthcare and specialist referrals for all health related matters. Phone: (03) 9525 5866. The Centre Clinic is located at the rear of 77 Fitzroy Street, St Kilda, on the corner of Fitzroy Street and Jackson Street.
